PUSH THE VOTE

PEOPLE. PROGRESS. POSSIBILITY.

Progress we can build together.

Push the Vote connects everyday concerns with credible policy information and practical civic action. Rooted in progressive and Democratic values, we advocate for universal healthcare, reproductive rights, stronger civil and voting rights, immigration reform with a pathway to citizenship, and fair work.

A focused 90-day partnership framework

Phase	What we do together	What to account for
Days 1-30 Define & listen	Agree on a community, an issue, responsibilities, a budget, and a useful outcome.	A written scope, sources, accessibility needs, and reporting plan.
Days 31-60 Create & connect	Develop a source-backed briefing or community conversation, with clearly disclosed sponsorship.	Delivery against the agreed scope, costs, and audience feedback.
Days 61-90 Evaluate & improve	Review the work, document limitations, and agree on the next step.	A clear account of delivery, spending, and lessons learned.

Choose the contribution that fits

Founding support: Back a defined body of work with an agreed scope, budget, reporting schedule, and acknowledgment.

Program sponsorship: Support a source-backed briefing, educational conversation, or guide. Paid placement is labeled and never purchases factual conclusions.

In-kind partnership: Bring venue access, printing, accessibility expertise, or professional services to a specific need.

Start a conversation: pushthevote.us/contact

The framework is tailored through a written agreement. Timelines begin when scope and responsibilities are agreed; this brief does not announce a scheduled program or solicit a binding funding commitment.

PUSH THE VOTE

CLEAR PURPOSE. CLEAR ACCOUNTABILITY.

Trust is part of the work.

Support should connect to useful work. Establish what success means before starting, then report what was delivered, what it cost, what people found useful, and what remains uncertain.

Area	What to evaluate
Useful information	Quality, accessibility, source accuracy, and aggregate engagement with published materials.
Civic connections	Use of official resources. A click is not a completed voter registration or a vote.
Community participation	Attendance and voluntary feedback on clarity and usefulness.
Responsible spending	Agreed budget, actual costs, delivery, and any limits on what the evidence shows.

Put resources where they matter

Research and publishing; accessible design and language support; community conversations; hosting and administration; legal and privacy review; and honest reporting. Agree on actual costs and a funding goal before committing.

Support without putting access behind a paywall

Discuss optional supporter membership, clearly labeled sponsored briefings, and merchandise. Availability, pricing, fulfillment, and any recurring terms must be confirmed before a purchase. Core official voting resources remain freely accessible.

Know what your support means

Push the Vote makes no claim here to tax-exempt status or tax-deductible contributions. A 501(c)(3) cannot intervene in candidate campaigns; genuinely nonpartisan voter education can be permitted. A 501(c)(4) can primarily lobby, but candidate political activity cannot be its primary activity, and contributions generally are not charitable deductions. The actual operator, activities, agreements, and applicable law determine the right funding structure.

Sources and next steps

IRS: 501(c)(3) campaign activity | IRS: social welfare organizations | IRS: 501(c)(4) donations

For partnership details and policy sources, visit pushthevote.us/partners. Updated November 11, 2026. General information, not legal or tax advice.